GIRLS WIN PRIZES FOR BEING CLEAN

Five Were Awarded Ribbons For Taking Three Baths Every Week.

Chicago, March 7.—Prizes as a reward for cleanliness have worked wonders among girls attending the West Side mission, according to Rev. Daniel R. Ford and Mrs. Ford, who are in charge of it. In order to impress them with the necessity of bathing, the Rev. Mr. Ford frequently told them that the application of water to the skin was conducive to health and beauty and more beneficial than the sewing classes of industrial schools. The lectures did not accomplish all that was desired, and then hair ribbons were offered as prizes with far better effect.

"Five girls were awarded ribbons the first week," said Mrs. Ford Wednesday, "each had a record of three baths for the time. The girls demurred on taking to the water at first. Finally we got a class of 15 girls to go bathing, and they have become regular ducks."

WILSON'S PLAN PUT IN FORCE

Florida Senators Seeking Appointments Referred to Department Head

CABINET CALLED IN FORMAL SESSION

President Hopes to Make Team Work of That Body Succeed

Washington, March 7.—President Wilson's embargo on office seekers was put into practical operation by the president himself yesterday, when he declined to consider an application for federal appointments. Senators Fletcher and Bryan of Florida Wednesday made an appointment to see the president yesterday. Mr. Wilson did not know the purpose of their visit when the engagement was made, and agreed to see them merely because they were Democratic senators, who, he presumed, had legitimate business with him.

When the senators saw the president yesterday they told him they had come to recommend the appointment of a federal judge and a United States attorney in the southern district of Florida. President Wilson refused to receive the recommendations. With the greatest courtesy possible he explained his ruling of Wednesday against consideration of application for appointments and he told the senators to make their recommendations to Attorney General McKeen.

He explained that he was determined to carry out literally and actually the policy which he announced Wednesday.

Senators Fletcher and Bryan had not had time to mention to the president the names of their candidates for the positions when he stopped them. Both senators refused to discuss the incident when they left President Wilson's office, but they did not seem to be offended.

President Wilson called the members of the cabinet together yesterday for their first formal meeting.

After the meeting, Secretary Tumulty made the following statement:

"President Wilson asked me to say for him that the cabinet meeting was for the purpose of enabling the members to 'get together.' To some extent the question of the assistants to the members of the cabinet was discussed."

Secretary of State Bryan remained in the president's office for a half hour after the cabinet meeting adjourned.

When Mr. Bryan was asked whether he or President Wilson would have the major part in selecting men for the diplomatic posts he said:

"I think it would be better for the announcement of all such policies to be made by Mr. Wilson."

Secretary Bryan was greeted by a crowd in the White House yard and by a battery of photographers when he left the executive office. The crowd followed him into the street and over to the door of the state department, many men and women pressing around him to shake hands.

Old fashioned routine at the executive offices was rudely shaken on the occasion of the cabinet meeting. No visitors were shooed away from the buildings; indeed, they were permitted to linger about the corridors and see the new statesmen as they entered. Another innovation was the admission of a score of photographers into the cabinet room to "snap" the president and his advisers as they were seated about the table.

"Jeffersonian simplicity" of the administration was reflected in the cabinet officers themselves. Every one of them came aloft from his office, although a wet snow was falling at the time.

DARROW CLOSING ARGUMENT.

Bitterly Attacks Prosecution in McNamara Bribery Case.

Los Angeles, Cal., March 7.—Clarence S. Darrow, charged with the bribery of jurors in the McNamara trial, began Wednesday afternoon the closing argument in his own defense. In the beginning, Darrow bitterly assailed former Judge Whittaker A. Gray, special prosecutor, who Wednesday afternoon scored Darrow.

"Only once before," said Darrow to the jury, "have I had occasion to speak to a jury for myself (referring to the former trial which resulted in his acquittal), and one feels on such an occasion that he may say too much or too little. So I will try to forget that I am a lawyer and will talk to you as man to man, fairly, honestly, as I have always tried to talk, and tried to live. Had I been a robber or a burglar or a defaulter bank cashier, no one would have dared to place me on trial again in a country of intelligent men. But I had to be tried again because the forces which control this great United States—the great forces of evil—want to destroy me. They have bribed every gutter snipe and every sewer rat they could, to testify against me, so that their masters might 'get me.'"

When Every Noise Gets "On Your Nerves"

When you have so far lost control of your nerves that you "fly to pieces" over the least little noise or excitement, it is high time to give your nerves a rest and to build up your blood. You are keeping up on your nerves alone. Your pale, sallow complexion shows that your blood is thin and watery. Your whole system is weak and run down. The drawn look, the sunken eyes, the deepening lines about the mouth and forehead, the loss in weight, are plain signs that the nerves and body are being poorly nourished. Your nervous energy and will power are all that is standing between you and a complete nervous breakdown.

Don't put off taking Dr. Williams' Pink Pills any longer. You may be nearer a collapse than you think. Few people know their endurance. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills build up, purify and put your blood in shape to properly nourish your exhausted, over-strained nervous system. They contain no opiates or harmful drugs. They give strength, not stimulation.

Go to the nearest drug store today and get a fifty cent box of DR. WILLIAMS' PINK PILLS FOR PALE PEOPLE or better still get six boxes for $2.50. If this is not convenient, they will be sent, postpaid, upon receipt of price, by the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y. The helpful booklet, "Diseases of the Nervous System," will be sent free on request.

FIND MRS. MILLS' CHECK IN STREET

But the Police Think That Saloonkeeper's Discovery May Be Hoax.

Chicago, March 7.—A small black purse containing a check for $41,000 on the state bank of Elkhart, Ind., made payable to "H. L. Stevens" and signed "Mrs. Mabel Mills," was found on the sidewalk at North Clark street and Center avenue Wednesday by William J. Dibos, a saloonkeeper at 2100 North Halsted street.

Dibos turned the check over to the police. It is dated March 1, 1913, the date on which Mrs. Mills, now at Kansas City, claims to have lost or been in some manner deprived of $41,000 in thousand dollar bills.

While the find appeared on the surface to be genuine, the police could not disregard the theory of a hoax. This theory was strengthened by the fact that Mrs. Mills has no account at the Elkhart bank; that she and Stevens apparently have had no business relations, and by the statement of E. W. Mills, Mrs. Mills' husband, at Kansas City, that it is "absolute nonsense."

Mrs. Mills had taken dinner with Mrs. H. L. Stevens, wife of the man whose name is the same as that appearing on the check found by the saloonman. She is supposed to have lost the money that evening after leaving the Stevens home, which is in the suburb of Evanston, several miles north of the spot where the check was found.

In the purse also were a number of newspaper clippings recounting real estate offers, some of which had been checked off. Mrs. Mills is in the real estate business at San Antonio, Tex., her home.

AIR VIEWS ON RAILROADS

Discussed at Meeting of the Boston Chamber of Commerce

THE RAILROADS WERE INVITED

But None Appeared at the Meeting—Purpose of Gathering

Boston, March 7.—Every one of the two thousand members of the Boston Chamber of Commerce, which includes business men in all parts of New England, was given an opportunity to express his opinion on the railroad problems in this section of the country at three special sessions of the chamber yesterday.

Officials of the New York, New Haven & Hartford, the Boston & Maine, the Boston & Albany and the Central Vermont railroads were invited to be present, but none of them appeared at the first session in the forenoon.

The directors of the chamber, previous to the meetings, made this announcement:

"Judging from the suggestions that have been made, the members are roughly divided in their opinions into three classes: "Those who believe the Boston & Maine and the New Haven should be separated, in accomplishing which the commonwealth should take over the stock of the Boston & Maine, now held by the Boston Holding Co.; those who believe that the object desired could be best accomplished in some other way and those who believe that no change in the existing situation is advisable."

OH JOY! HELEN'S POODLE IS SAFE.

"Neemie," $5,000 Dog, Finds Its Way Back, but Miss Taft Is Gone.

Washington, March 7.—Neemie, Miss Helen Taft's $5,000 Italian poodle, which strayed away from the White House on Tuesday and for which the police of Washington have made unremitting search, found itself early yesterday.

A maid in the home of Miss Taft's aunt—Mrs. Thomas Laughlin—was awakened by the yelping of the dog and let him in.

A telegram was dispatched at once to Miss Taft asking whether Neemie should be shipped to Augusta, Ga., where the Taft family now is, or whether it should be kept here until they came north again.

The dog, to which Miss Taft is much attached, was given by King Victor Emmanuel of Italy to former Secretary of the Navy Meyer, who presented the animal to Miss Taft.

15 CASES HEARD BY WOMAN JUDGE.

First Day of New Departure in Chicago Is Success.

Chicago, March 7.—Fifteen cases were disposed of yesterday in Judge Mary M. Bartelme's court. It was the first day of the court, the attaches of which are all women, and Miss Bartelme expressed herself as highly pleased with the result.

Not a man is admitted to the court room, where the hearings are limited to the case of either wayward girls or those "who never had a chance."

Miss Bartelme was appointed by Judge Pinekey of the juvenile court to hear this class of cases, holding that many girls could more easily tell their stories to a woman than to a man. Women probation officers acted as bailiffs and there was a woman clerk in the court.

"It is our hope to get justice for these girls, and judging from the first day's work I think we shall be successful," said Miss Bartelme.

ROW IN FRENCH CHAMBER.

Socialists Riot as Three-Year Conscription Bill Is Read.

Paris, March 7.—Socialist members started a riotous demonstration in the Chamber of Deputies yesterday when the government's bill for a three-year term of enforced military service was introduced.

Ink pots were slammed on desks during the altercation and other members laughed and enjoyed the fun while the Socialists had their way. The public was excluded from the chamber. Finally President Deschanel threatened adjournment if the uproar were not stopped. Order was re-established and the bill was read.

WOMEN TELL OF MANY AFFRONTS

The Suffragists Testify At the Investigation Being Held in Washington.

Washington, March 7.—Tales of indignities and affronts from the crowds and indifference and laughing comments by the police were recounted yesterday before the Senate committee, which began an investigation of alleged lack of protection for the suffrage parade Monday.

Women prominent in national affairs and suffrage councils testified. Mrs. Agnes M. Jenks of Concord, N. H., who had her daughter and other girls in the parade, said uniformed policemen encouraged the crowd in their disorder toward them, that a man tried to trip them and that others tried to steal their flowers.

Senators Jones, Dillingham and Pomerehne are members of the committee and they announced that they proposed to go to the bottom of the matter.
